BUDD CARBERRY WILL QUIT FORCE

LOCAL SHERLOCK HOLMES TO ACCEPT A BETTER POSITION.

Detective Budd P. Carberry last night tendered his resignation to Chief of Police Malley, to take effect on the fifteenth of the month. The resignation was a great surprise, but Officer Carberry leaves the force on which he has served with honor and distinction for the past year, to accept a better position, and his headquarters will still be in Tonopah.

Carberry has been in this country for the past three years, having put in two years of the time in Goldfield. He went to the latter place from the sheriff's office at Denver, with which he had been connected for seven years. He brought with him the detective skill of experience, and his ability has been a boon to both towns, for Carberry has to his credit more arrests and more men in the Carson penitentiary than any other man on the force of Tonopah or Goldfield.

Budd's Brother, Ed, was a detective of many years standing in Denver, and he had a record of which any officer might well be proud. He was a man absolutely without fear, and in the election riots of 1900, he killed two and wounded two other thugs, who were intimidating voters and policemen with their guns. He also made captures in Colorado after desperate struggles, in which he always came off victor. So Budd comes naturally by his detective instincts; he comes from a family of detectives.

The crooks of Goldfield gave Budd the name of "Slowfoot," but Budd was always sufficiently fleet of foot to nab the crooks and was always there with his "gat" to hold them. The experience of Carberry in Tonopah has been one of activity, and he has always enjoyed the reputation of getting the man he went after. He was always quick to strike a scent, and unerring in trailing it. His loss to the force will be a notable one, but he will take with him the best wishes of his superior and of his officer mates, and no man wishes the force more success than does Budd.

TONOPAH CLUB OPEN TO PUBLIC

The Tonopah Club was thrown open for the inspection of the general public, in order to give the ladies a chance to visit the resort before business was begun. There was quite a crowd streamed in and out of the place for several hours, the ladies expressing delight and curiosity at the wonderful games, and getting an inkling of the business engagements that keep hubby downtown of nights looking at the roulette ball go round, and they had a chance to stroke the tiger while he was chained. The tiger will be unleashed tonight, the roulette ball will go for keeps, and seven-eleven on the craps table will mean business.

The opening for business will take place at 5 o'clock tonight. A visit to the Nevada Club means that you will be a steady patron. Your friends will be there to greet you.

METHODS FAVORED INSURANCE MEN

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 4.—The administration of the State Insurance Department by its present superintendent, Otto Kelcy, who was appointed by the late Governor Higgins, is severely criticized in the report of Matthew C. Fleming, the special commissioner appointed by Governor Hughes to investigate the department under the authority of an act of the last Legislature. Additional interest is attached to the report because of the refusal of the Senate last spring to remove Superintendent Kelcy upon the Governor's recommendation and the widely prevalent belief that the recommendation will be renewed at the present session. Charges originally filed with the Governor against Superintendent Kelcy by a New York newspaper form the basis of the investigation, and they include several counts, which are given in detail.

Matters which Fleming virtually dismissed as not sustained are those of alleged injustice to small policy holders in the matter of loans, lying advertisements, refusal of information to policy holders and failing to take action on industrial insurance. This last, Fleming points out, is one for legislative action.

Fleming's principal stress is laid upon the alleged inefficiency of Kelcy's control of the department, violations and evasions of law which were not discovered, discrepancies in reports of companies which went unnoticed, failure of the superintendent to act upon what Fleming regards as improper connection of department employees with insurance companies and tardy compulsion of action in compelling companies to make complete reports of financial transactions. Fleming says: "The department has done nothing in the
